Foreword

The history of life tells of a continuous climb from youth to age. Choosing the right way to go is a momentous decision and for this youth must be guided. May the many different phases of school life as described on the following pages portray steps that have already been climbed. And may the Class of 1950 continue to climb to successively higher planes of spirituality and Christian service.

Dedication

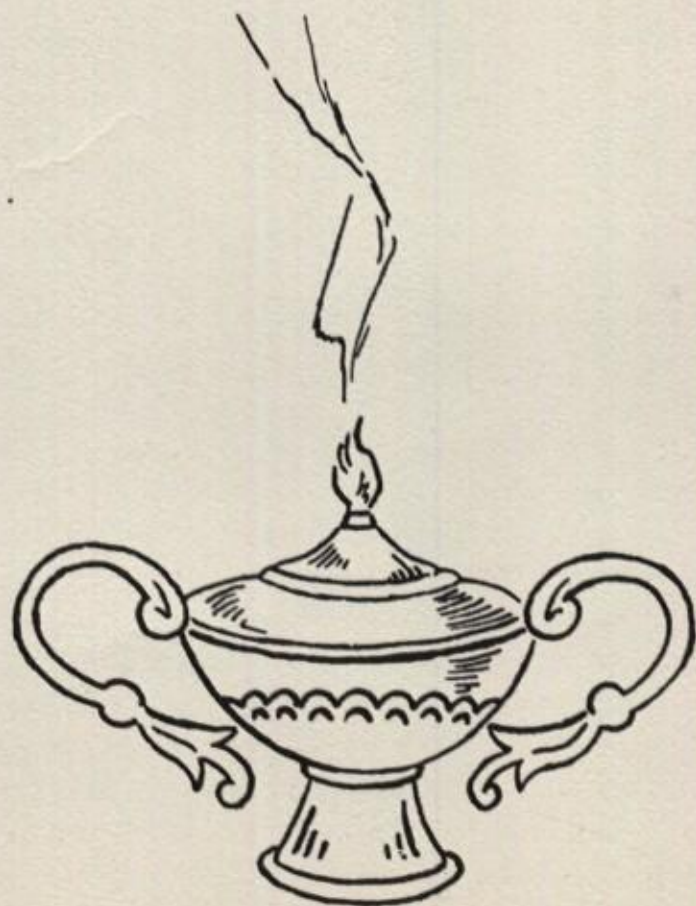

To Silas J. Horst, for his sincere interest, genuine concern, unfailing support, and devoted service to our school which he served as principal for the first three and one-half years, we do respectfully dedicate the 1950 Reverie.

Deep concern for our school, no problem too small for his consideration, busy but never too busy, patient, calm disposition, versatile, stride all his own, has won respect of students.

A Message to the Seniors.

Commencement time is a milestone in your life. You may feel that you have achieved something worthwhile and rightfully so. However, you must not feel that the time to relax is here. Important tasks lie before you. Graduation time is when life more realistically is before you, with work not finished but to be finished.

My prayer is that you may continue to climb life's ladder with your hand in the Master's. It is only as you allow Him to lead that you will contribute worthily to Christ, the church and your fellowmen.

"They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; they shall walk, and not faint." --Isaiah 40:31

Senior History

As the Seniors of 1950 we have not reached the top of our ladder, but we are climbing to that end. There are thirteen of us completing our work at I. M. S. Nine of us began climbing together and the rest have come from other schools. One in our number is completing his work in three years.

During our first years at I. M. S. we were not willing to adjust ourselves to high school and wanted to walk in our childish steps. Although we are not very far from them, yet we feel our accomplishments are bringing us closer to our goal.

As Sophomores we missed those of our group who did not return and know they missed a high spot in their lives. We were not certain whether it was wise to follow the dimly marked path of the upperclassmen, but tried to follow a perfect pattern.

When we were Juniors we began to realize the finer things of life. There was more to school than just receiving, we had to give. We enjoyed giving the Junior-Senior Banquet even though many hours of hard work were spent in preparation for it.

Although we have not reached amazing heights as Seniors, yet we feel that the four years at I. M. S. have been a great help in increasing our knowledge of God and also becoming better acquainted with our ever changing world. As a class we know that wherever we attempt to find our place in life we need a heavenly Father to guide us every step of the way.

- Dorothy Hershberger

Senior Opportunities

America once lost some valuable and irreplaceable gems, in fact they were stolen. Time, has caught the fugitives; Poverty and Inopportunity, and with the help of the law they have been duly punished. We shall never know how many potential inventors, mechanical geniuses and poets have lived their threescore and ten years, have died and have been buried with the gem of possibility locked tightly within themselves, unreleased.

Surely this wouldn't be possible today-1950! We pride ourselves in our progressiveness in educational fields. No, if this felony is re-enacted in 1950 it cannot be attributed to poverty or inopportunity; it is the fault of the possessor.

The world is in need of competent youth who will dedicate their gifts, and give devoted, efficient, and intelligent service in whatever work they will assume. May each I. M. S. graduate do just this.

To some this opportunity will be found on the farm and in the home. To better their own community will be their task and may they do so by being noble, honest, and upright. The homemaker's responsibility in making hers a Christian home, can hardly be equaled.

Some will perhaps find their place in the business world. Opportunities here for Christian witness will be unlimited. May trustworthiness and dependability characterize the class of '50 businessmen.

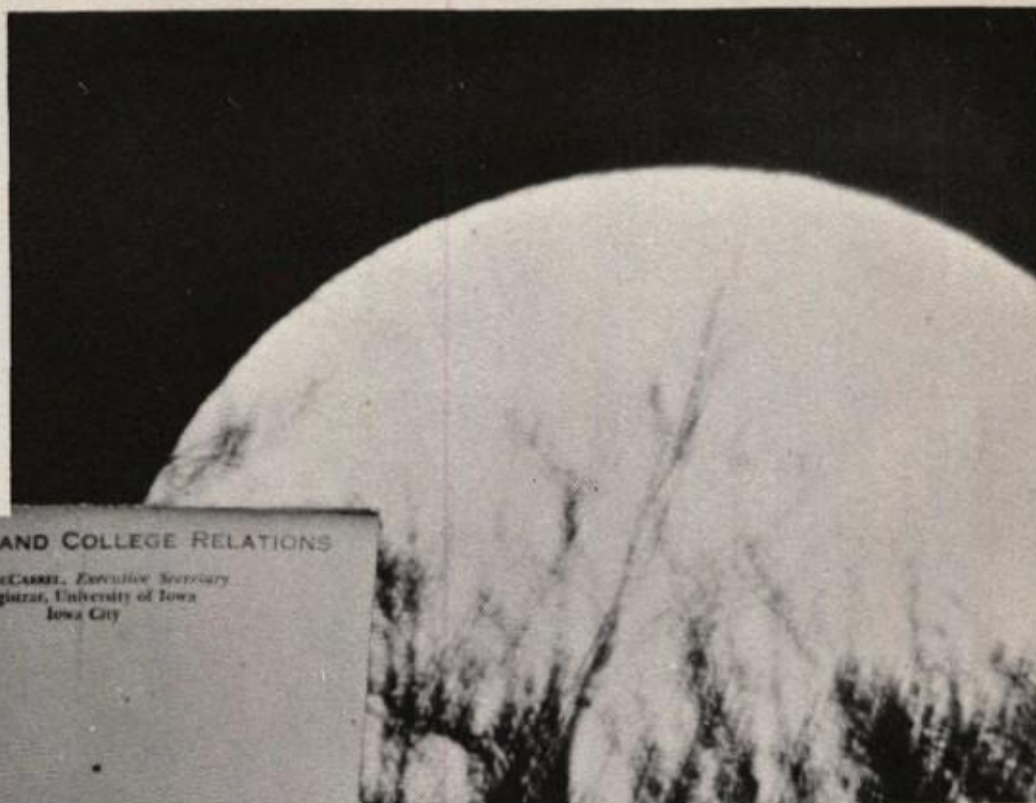

Certainly it has been the prayer of faculty and students, that some find their opportunities in places of definite Christian service. If at home or in foreign mission service, may their lives be perfectly yielded. If a doctor or nurse may their services be loving, kind and patient. If they are called to preach the Gospel, may it be straight from God through an untainted heart.

Surely their days at I. M. S. will have been times of preparation for this great work.

May the mid-century graduate of I. M. S. have a vision, and then a vital and an active role in making the last half of the century better than the first half.

THE IOWA COMMITTEE ON SECONDARY SCHOOL AND COLLEGE RELATIONS

FOREMAN: BARTON MORGAN, Chairman 1948-49
Iowa State College
AMES

TED MCCABRELL, Executive Secretary
Registrar, University of Iowa
IOWA CITY

May 11, 1949

Mr. S. B. Naffziger, Dean
Iowa Mennonite School
Kalona, Iowa

Dear Mr. Naffziger:

The Iowa Mennonite School is being placed on the list of accredited non-public secondary schools for the school year 1948-49 by the Iowa Committee on Secondary School and College Relations.

The committee congratulates you on your success in obtaining a splendid new building and commends you also for other improvements made since your school was visited a year ago—particularly in the library, the extra-curricular program, and the school administration. These improvements indicate that the patrons of the Iowa Mennonite School are really desirous of providing a good educational program for the pupils of this community.

The committee recommends that you continue to select titles for your library that will supplement your present collection in the areas where it is weakest, and also that you carefully review the curricular offering of your school with the view to making it as functional as possible in the lives of your students.

The committee recommends also that as soon as it is feasible, plans should be made to provide facilities for a well-balanced physical education program.

Mr. Ruge and I thoroughly enjoyed our visit in your school and we invite you to write to the committee when you feel that it can be of assistance in matters pertaining to accreditation.

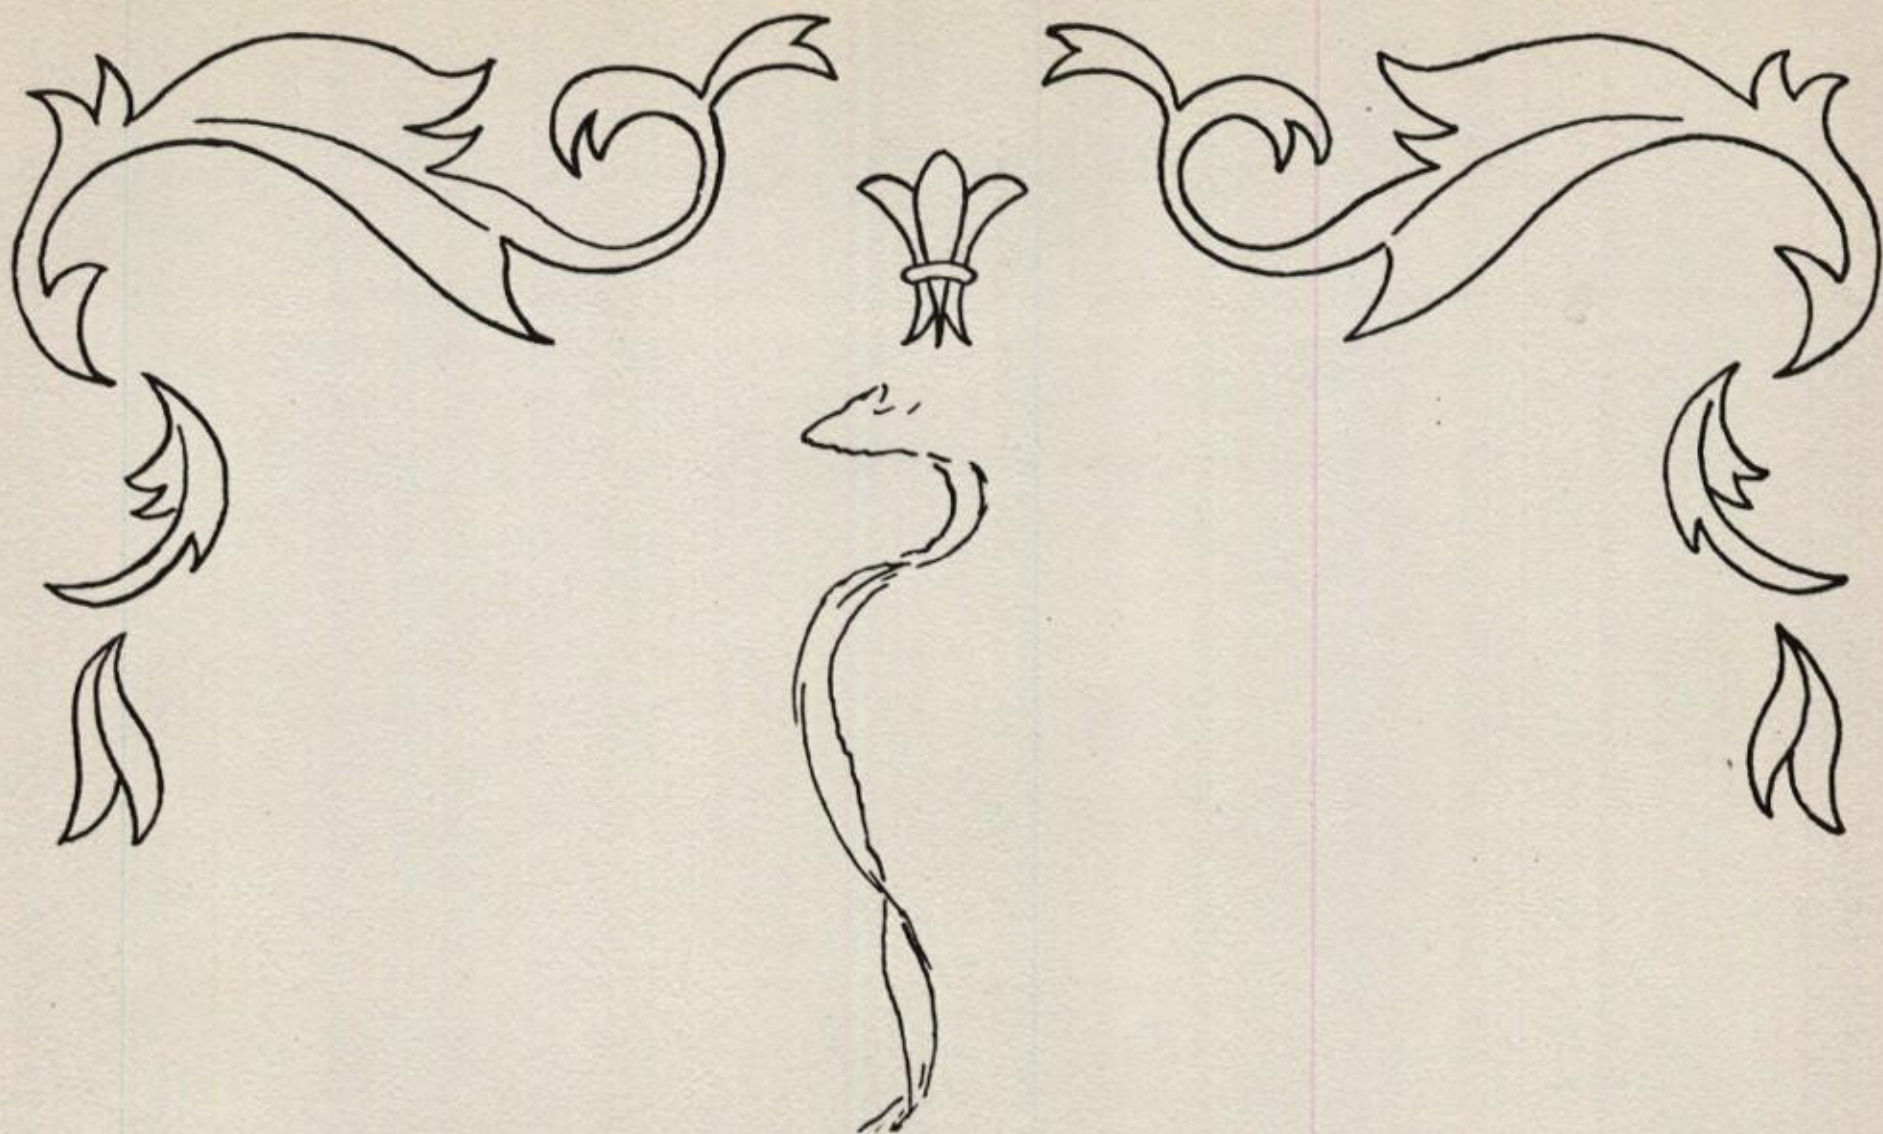

Very truly yours,
J. E. McAdams

Religious Activities

Chapel

The soul of education is the education of the soul. Education without religion is sharpening tools without giving direction as to their use. This is why the chapel plays such an important part in a Christian school.

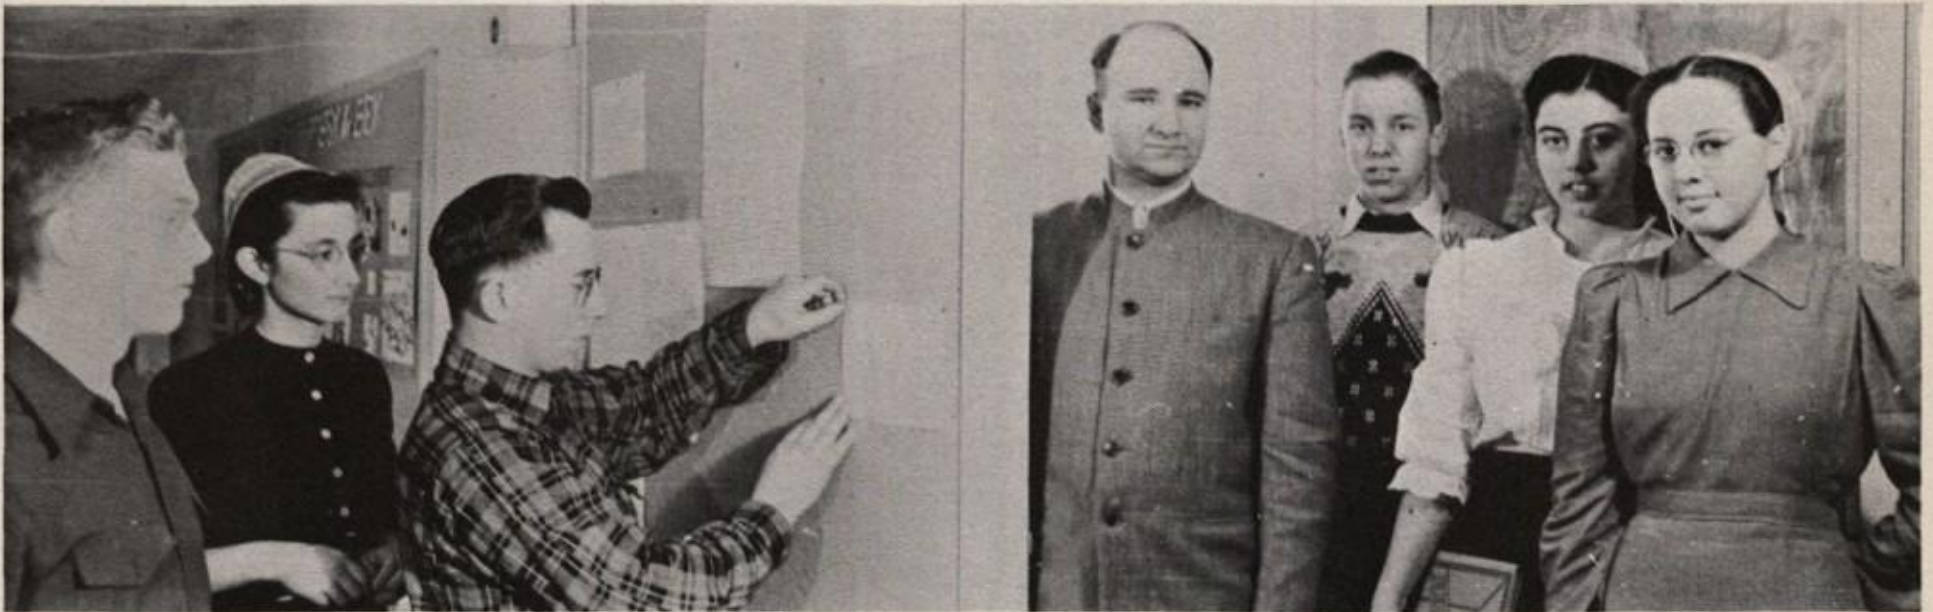

The daily chapel messages are brought to the students by faculty members, visiting ministers from all over the world, and by various laymen of our church. The teachings and admonitions of these speakers are a challenge and an aid to the building of a strong, Christian character in the students. The emphasis is not only placed upon telling the student how he ought to feel and act toward God and his fellow man, but upon helping him to feel and act as he ought.

To the Christian students, the chapel is a period of refreshing and gives them the courage to do their very best during the rest of the day.

It is evident that no student can be present in the chapel one school year without having it leave some kind of an impression on his spiritual life.

Dellis Schrock

Student Chapel

Committee First Semester:

Committee Second Semester:
Samuel Nafziger, Sponsor, Oliver Yutsy,
Chairman, Mary Ellen Swartzendruber,
Martha Ropp.

Every Friday morning instead of our regular chapel, we students have charge. We worship in praying, speaking, and singing. Sometimes the theme of our program is of a doctrinal nature, sometimes it is inspirational, but always it is valuable to those who take an active part in it.

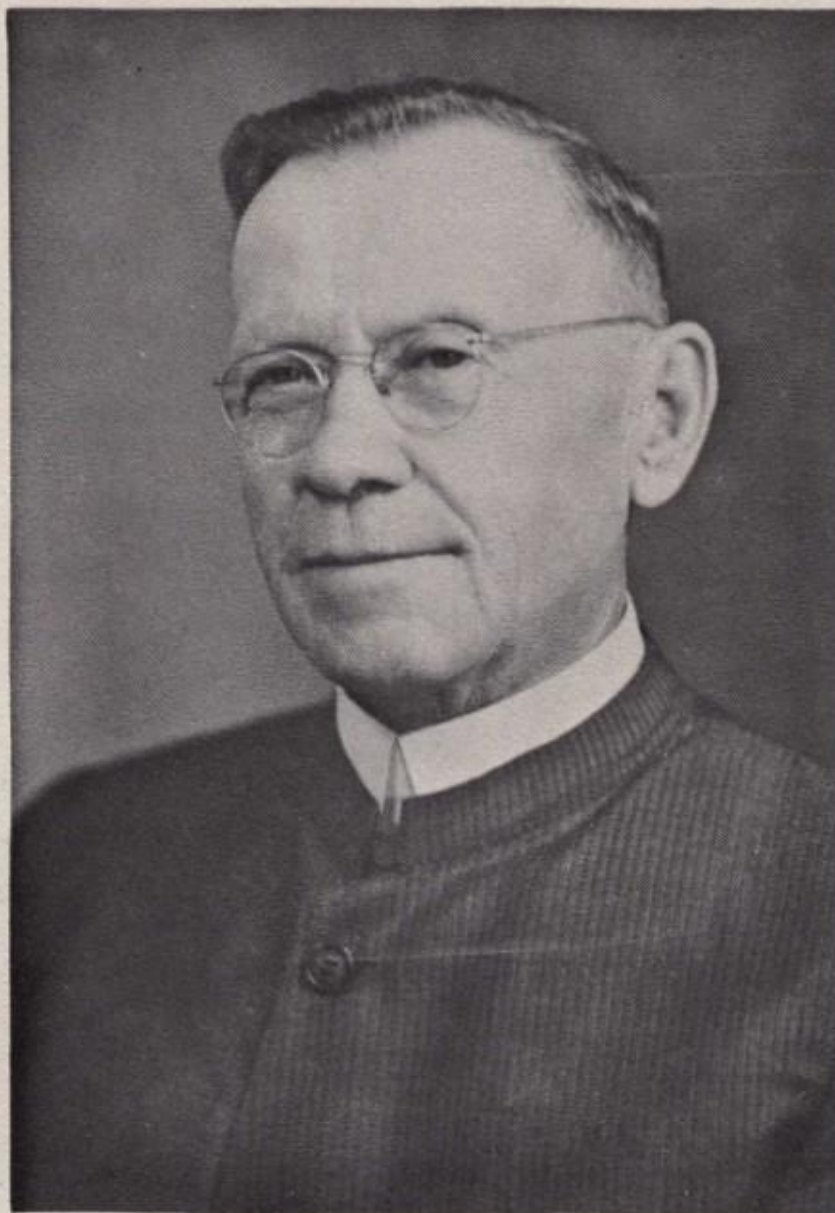

Here we as students have opportunities to enrich our spiritual lives by participating in Christian activities.

Our time and opportunity is now here; our success in later work for our Master will be influenced by how diligently we prepare our topics.

Student chapel is a blessing to all who are willing to participate. Let's not belittle its challenge.

-Velma Weaver

Spiritual Life Week

P. A. Freisen, retired India missionary.

"If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honor, sanctified, and meet for the master's use, and prepared unto every good work." II Timothy 2:21.

Spiritual Life Week is one of the high lights of each school year. Brother P. A. Freisen, from Greensburg, Kansas was with us from December fifth to the ninth. The Chapel talks which were delivered by Brother Freisen were very interesting and inspirational. One thought which he impressed upon our minds was, "This is our time." We are stewards of our time and responsible for the way it is used.

The presence of the Holy Spirit was keenly felt in these meetings. A number of students reconsecrated their lives to Christ and began anew in their Christian experience. There was also a group who consecrated their lives for service. Though they were not sure of the place they were to fill they nevertheless felt God wanted them to serve Him in a special way.

A Christian Workers Band was organized as an outgrowth of this week. The purpose of this band is to acquaint its members with missions and Christian workers of the past and to open to them opportunities for service in the surrounding communities.

Carolyn Slaubaugh

MISSION EMPHASIS WEEK

During Mission Emphasis week our minds are drawn toward the mission field. Each morning, for one week, our chapel messages are brought to us by a missionary either from the foreign field or from the home land. The purpose of this week is to become better acquainted with the mission work of our church. It also arouses in us a sense of the need of the world so that we shall want to support the missionary activities of the church.

-Dorothy Showalter

GROUP MEETINGS

After hurrying from class to class we are glad for the period of rest and relaxation group meetings afford. This period is spent in discussing problems which concern each individual group. Sister Yoder has charge of the Freshmen and Sophomore girls. The Junior and Senior girls have been enjoying their meetings with Sister Schrock since Sister Detwiler left. The boy's groups are under the direction of Brother Guengerich and Brother Nafziger.

An oasis in a long day of classes, a high spot every two weeks; this is the description of literary you would get from any loyal Aleathean or En Avanian.

Originality, wit, and humor characterize our programs and anything from World Peace to burnt potatoes has been discussed. Opportunities for expression help us in the development of a well-rounded Christian personality.

Among the treasured memories of I. M. S. there will be many recollections of times spent in our literary societies.

The En Avanian's and Aleathean's of today pledge themselves to the task of continuing the spirit to go "Forward" in the quest for "Truth".
